SMARTER BUSINESSES

Definitely a destination.

Your museum or gallery undoubtedly has a great collection, but to your visitors it's definitely a destination. Whether they are making a short visit to see something special or a full day's exploration, your visitors base their view – and any review – on the entire experience they have.

From entry to exhibition, and from salad in the café to souvenirs in the shop, every interaction with your staff is a customer touch point that can bring glowing reports and repeat visits. Your visitors expect to receive great customer service throughout your museum or gallery, and that's where ServiceIQ can help keep your institution on top.

QUALIFICATIONS

Success depends on skilled people.

Museums and galleries are part of the lifeblood of our nation. They employ thousands of people and many more volunteer. Every one of them needs the skills and knowledge to do their job, and each has an impact on visitor experience. Whether behind the scenes curating or cooking, or out front guiding, serving guests or selling artwork, it is good skills and customer service that lead to success.

Expertise builds experts.

As the government-mandated industry training organisation for New Zealand's service sectors, ServiceIQ has the expertise and experience to help your people be the best they can.

Our wide range of on-job training programmes is carefully designed, with retail industry input, to give your employees the skills and knowledge they need to be successful and make the most of their job. The programmes are easily delivered, on the job, and at a pace that works for your business. This way, you, your people and your customers get the immediate benefit of new skills designed to help take your business to the next level.

Satisfaction guaranteed.

The programmes have another advantage: on successful completion, your employees will be awarded with a nationally recognised qualification. Achieving a high standard gives you the confidence that your people have the right skills to provide customers with great service, and it gives your people increased job satisfaction and motivation.

Cost?

There are options where the training programmes could be free. We also offer cost-effective short courses that allow learning anywhere, anytime. These short courses are ideal as part of the induction for new employees.

Great leaders aren't born. They are trained.

You will know that people may be experts at their job, but it takes a completely different set of skills to manage and lead a team successfully...

Great leaders have real hands-on operational experience plus excellent management and leadership skills. ServiceIQ offers two popular programmes designed to give your talented employees with management potential the skills they need to take on greater responsibility and contribute more to your business.

The business management programmes are two-tiered and lead to nationally recognised qualifications. They are also perfect for business succession planning.

- 1. New Zealand Certificate in Business (Introduction to Team Leadership) Level 3 is ideal for supervisors or the people you want to move into effective team leadership or supervisor roles.
- 2. New Zealand Certificate in Business (First Line Management) Level 4 is designed for your team leaders or supervisors who are ready to step up into management.

Both programmes involve a mix of theory and practise. They are completed separately and can be easily achieved by your employees on the job and at a pace that works for your business. Your ServiceIQ advisor will be able to help you decide what works best for your business and your staff.

Good managers are invaluable. They help keep your staff 'on song' and driving towards your business goals.

Your collection.

People working with your collection need the skills to appropriately handle and maintain collection items as required, as well as to bring them to life for your visitors.

ServiceIQ programmes include::

- ▶ New Zealand Certificate Museum Practice (Level 4) – essential skills and knowledge for working in all areas within a museum or gallery.
- ▶ New Zealand Certificate in Tourism (Tour Guiding) (Level 4) – services such as visitor interpretation, group management, tour leadership, interpretation while on a tour, administrative tasks both before and after a tour, and health and safety of a tour group.
- ▶ National Certificate in Tourism Māori – Level 3 – Tourism Aotearoa is the global pioneer in workplace-based training, which highlights the essential partnership between an indigenous culture and tourism businesses raising their standards of service delivery in New Zealand.

People working with your collection need the skills to appropriately handle and maintain collection items as required.

Your one-stop retail training shop.
